

Editors' Picks: 11 Things Not to Miss in the Virtual Art World This Week

Sarah Cascone, March 30, 2020

Through Sunday, May 10

Jessie Makinson, I just saw your mystery face (2020). Courtesy of Lyles & King.

11. “Jessie Makinson: Dangerous Pleasing” at Lyles & King

Available for viewing on the Lyles & King website are works by London-based artist Jessie Makinson. Drawing inspiration from 17th- and 18th-century erotica and early Renaissance altarpieces, Makinson creates worlds where women dominate and look fabulous in leopard print catsuits (picture Carole Baskin from Netflix’s Tiger King vibes). Kate Neave acutely observes in the exhibition’s press release that “Makinson’s characters seem motivated by jealousy, narcissism, and, desire. Her paintings bring to mind conspiracies and betrayals, invoking plot lines that could equally have been plucked from Tudor England or Instagram stories.”

Price: Free

Time: Open daily, at all times

—Cristina Cruz